

"Another pair of Prize Winners!"

FIRST PRIZE (ARGUS CAMERA CLASS)

This is a perfectly composed picture—the large light-toned tree in the foreground is balanced by the smaller, dark tree in the background. Wise use of the red filter emphasizes the texture and the horizontal lines of the cloud formation in contrast to the main center of interest.

875 Victoria Drive, Pasadena, California

FIRST PRIZE (OPEN CLASS)

The flat, dark foreground is well used to bring out the mottled sky, the delicate white texture of the waves and to draw the eye to the sailboat in the distance. Without the use of the filter, the cloud formation, so important in the composition of this picture, would have been lost and the overall effect of the solid foreground and the light background not obtained.

Taken by A. Vernon Davis,
437 Stratford Avenue, Hagerstown, Md.
